

Dear Rejo,

Thank you for using our service. We are happy to help you to better understand what kind of information we have about you and how we use it. This letter gives you an overview of the data we have about you.

Registration Data

Spotify has access to information about you, which we collect in order to determine your eligibility for using Spotify, and to create and manage your account. This includes information you submit to us when you sign up for Spotify, such as email address, gender, date of birth, country of residence, username and date and time of sign up, as well as some additional technical data. If you signed up using your Facebook credentials or later connected your account to your Facebook account, we may also have information publicly available through your Facebook profile such as picture, Facebook username, friend list, networks etc. In particular, we have the following information:

Name	Rejo Zenger
Spotify User Name	rejozenger
Created from Facebook	No
Facebook User ID	N/A
Preferred Locale	Netherlands
Email address	rejo@zenger.nl
Type of account	Premium
Date of birth	██████████
User created	██████████
Postal code	1024 MC
Country	Netherlands
Gender	Male
Homesite	Netherlands
Mobile number	+31639642738
Mobile brand	██████████
Mobile operator	N/A

Financial Data

If you are or have been a paying user, we have logs of the payment events on your account. We also collect and store some of your financial data. In particular, we have the following information:

Payment provider	Billing Adyen Cards
Description	Card (#### #### #### ████████)
Cancelable	Yes

Country	Netherlands
Card type	Visa
BIN/IIN	██████
Card last four	████
Card expiry	██████
Product	Premium
Status	Recurring
Campaign	██████████████
Expiry date	2017-██████
Price	€████
Debit Day	2nd of every month

Usage Data

When you use Spotify or products or services available through Spotify, we also collect some additional information about your use, such as:

- The playlists you have added to your profile
- Your playlist history, i.e. actions you have undertaken with your playlists
- The playlists you have made public
- The tracks you have “starred”
- Your notifications settings
- Your correspondence with Spotify Customer Service
- The devices you have used
- Your offline devices
- Your latest active session

We also keep logs of your activity on the Spotify service, including but not limited to data pertaining to the content you listen to (e.g. the songs streamed from your account) as well as certain other data, such as date and time, gender and birth date, IP address, operating system, browser type, device type, language and the version of Spotify that you are using.

Please see Attachment 1 to this letter for such activity logs, reflecting the content you have listened to on the Spotify service in the three (3) months prior to the date of your request and related information. Please let us know if you wish to access such activity logs for any other period of time.

Purpose of processing the data

We use your information as described in our Privacy Policy. This primarily includes to provide you with the services you have requested, to personalize and improve your experience, to communicate with you, including to send you information about our services and product, to ensure technical functioning, analyze use of the service and to develop new services, and to enforce the agreement we have with you including to protect copyright material.

Sharing of data

We might share some of the above information with other companies within the Spotify group, with our business partners (for example Facebook, if you choose to integrate you Spotify account with your Facebook account) and with our service providers, such as companies assisting us in processing payments and maintaining our technical platform.

As described in our Privacy Policy, we provide you with settings to allow you to choose which communications you receive from us, manage your public profile information and set your sharing preferences for certain categories of data.

We hope this information has been helpful to you. If you would like to read more about how we collect and use your information, please read our Privacy Policy at: <http://www.spotify.com/legal/privacy-policy/>

Best regards

Your Spotify-team